

CARNAGE CHAMPIONSHIP WRESTLING

Brand Identity & Go-to-Market Strategy

2D Browser-Based Extreme Wrestling Game

January 2026 | Version 1.0

Prepared by Yadkin Data Partners

Part 1: Brand Foundation

The strategic foundation for CCW's identity, voice, and visual system.

1.1 Brand Essence

Core Identity Statement

CCW is the unapologetic celebration of extreme wrestling in video game form. Where mainstream wrestling games sanitize and simulate, CCW embraces the chaos—steel chairs connect, tables ignite, and every match tells a story written in bruises.

Brand Personality

- Unapologetic: We don't soften the violence or apologize for what we are. This is extreme wrestling—chairs hurt, tables break, fire burns. Own it.
- Knowing: We understand the kayfabe. A wink to the audience that says 'we're all in on this together.' Self-aware without being ironic or mocking.
- Accessible: Wrestling gatekeeping? Not here. Whether you watched ECW live or discovered deathmatch wrestling on YouTube last week, you belong.
- Hype: When appropriate, channel the energy of a wrestling promo. 'ARE YOU READY?!' energy—but earned through gameplay, not forced marketing speak.

1.2 Mission & Vision

Mission Statement

To deliver the visceral, chaotic energy of extreme wrestling that mainstream games refuse to make—accessible to anyone with a browser and a taste for carnage.

Vision Statement

CCW becomes the definitive deathmatch wrestling game—the place where fans of ECW, FMW, CZW, and BJJ finally see their favorite style represented authentically. We prove that extreme wrestling deserves its own game, not just a 'hardcore match' mode buried in a menu.

Core Values

- Authenticity Over Polish: We'd rather capture the spirit of extreme wrestling than have perfect graphics.
- Accessibility Over Complexity: Anyone can pick up and play. Deep strategy emerges from simple mechanics.
- Community Over Corporate: We're indie. We listen. We build with our players, not at them.

- Spectacle Over Simulation: This isn't a wrestling sim—it's a deathmatch arcade experience.

1.3 Positioning Statement

For wrestling fans who miss the chaos of ECW and deathmatch promotions who are frustrated that no game lets them slam opponents through flaming tables, CCW is a browser-based 2D fighting game that delivers authentic extreme wrestling action with zero downloads and instant play. Unlike WWE 2K's sanitized simulation or Fire Pro's complexity, CCW is the only game that puts deathmatch wrestling center stage with arcade accessibility.

1.4 Competitive Differentiation

Competitor	Weakness	CCW Advantage	Price
WWE 2K Series	Sanitized; no real hardcore	Authentic extreme wrestling	$60-70
Fire Pro Wrestling	Steep learning curve	Pick up and play instantly	$20-50
AEW Fight Forever	No dedicated hardcore mode	Deathmatch is THE mode	$40-60
CCW	—	Browser-based, free, instant	FREE

Part 2: Visual Identity

Color palette, typography, and logo system for CCW.

2.1 Color Palette: Blood & Fire

The CCW palette draws from the visceral imagery of extreme wrestling—blood, fire, and industrial steel. It's aggressive without being garish, dark without being depressing.

Primary Colors — Blood Tones

Blood Deep #6B0F1A	Blood Primary #8B0000	Blood Bright #DC143C
------------------------------	---------------------------------	--------------------------------

Secondary Colors — Fire Tones

Fire Orange #FF4500	Fire Amber #FFB800	Fire Yellow #FFD700
-------------------------------	------------------------------	-------------------------------

Neutrals — Industrial Steel

Void #0D0D0D	Abyss #1A1A1A	Steel Dark #2D2D2D	Steel Mid #4A4A4A	Steel Light #808080	Chrome #C0C0C0
--------------	---------------	--------------------	-------------------	---------------------	----------------

2.2 Typography System

Bold, aggressive display type meets pixel art nostalgia. Typography that screams from the turnbuckle.

Role	Font	Usage
Display	Bebas Neue	Logo, headlines, announcements, promo titles
Headings	Oswald	Subheadings, navigation, UI labels, character names
Pixel/Retro	Press Start 2P	In-game UI, scores, announcements, retro accents
Body	Inter	Body text, descriptions, bios, website copy

2.3 Logo System

The CCW logo is a bold, condensed wordmark that captures the aggressive energy of extreme wrestling. It works across digital contexts from favicon to social banner.

Logo Variants:

- Primary Logo: 'CCW' wordmark with 'CARNAGE CHAMPIONSHIP WRESTLING' subtitle and fire accent line
- Icon/App Symbol: Square format for favicons, app icons, and social avatars
- Pixel Version: 8-bit rendering for in-game use and retro contexts
- Badge/Emblem: Shield format for premium/formal applications
- Monochrome: White-on-dark and dark-on-light variants for flexible placement

See accompanying HTML Brand Kit for full visual logo system with SVG assets.

Part 3: Voice & Messaging

Taglines, voice guidelines, and messaging framework.

3.1 Tagline Hierarchy

Primary Tagline (Hero/Universal)

"CHAIRS. TABLES. FIRE. NO MERCY."

Secondary Taglines (Contextual)

Tagline	Best Use
"THE GAME WWE WON'T MAKE"	Provocative / Social media
"INSTANT PLAY. INSTANT CARNAGE."	Browser benefit / Landing page
"EXTREME WRESTLING UNLEASHED"	Hero / General purpose
"ECW ENERGY. ARCADE ACCESSIBILITY."	Positioning / Press
"PICK UP. BEAT DOWN. NO MANUAL REQUIRED."	Ease of play
"FLAMING TABLES. NO DOWNLOADS."	Punchy / Ad copy

3.2 Voice Guidelines

CCW speaks with wrestling promo energy tempered by indie game authenticity. Hype without the cringe.

Trait	How It Shows Up
Unapologetic	We don't soften the violence. 'Slam opponents through flaming tables' not 'environmental hazards.'
Knowing	Wink at kayfabe. We're all in on the joke. Self-aware without being ironic or mocking the genre.
Accessible	No gatekeeping. ECW veterans and new fans equally welcome. No 'you had to be there' energy.
Hype	Channel promo energy when appropriate. 'ARE YOU READY?!' vibes—but earned, not forced.

Part 4: Go-to-Market Strategy

Target audience, channel strategy, and launch plan.

4.1 Target Audience Personas

Primary Persona: Marcus, 'The Nostalgic Hardcore Fan'

- Age: 32-42 | Watched ECW/Attitude Era live
- Behavior: Still follows wrestling, watches AEW/indie shows, active on r/SquaredCircle
- Pain Point: 'WWE games are too sanitized. I want to recreate the chaos I grew up watching.'
- Find Him: Reddit (r/SquaredCircle, r/AEWOfficial), Twitter/X wrestling community, YouTube wrestling channels

Secondary Persona: Jamie, 'The Content Creator'

- Age: 22-30 | Streams/creates gaming content
- Behavior: Always looking for new games to stream, loves chaotic multiplayer content
- Pain Point: 'I need games that create memorable moments for my audience.'
- Find Them: Twitch, YouTube Gaming, TikTok gaming community

Tertiary Persona: Alex, 'The Retro Gamer'

- Age: 25-40 | Loves indie games and pixel art
- Behavior: Plays browser games, follows indie devs, appreciates retro aesthetics
- Pain Point: 'Modern games are bloated. I want simple mechanics that are fun.'
- Find Them: itch.io, r/IndieGaming, r/WebGames, indie game Discord servers

4.2 Channel Strategy

Tier 1: Primary Channels (Launch Focus)

Channel	Strategy	Priority
Reddit	r/SquaredCircle, r/AEWOfficial, r/WebGames, r/IndieGaming — authentic engagement, dev updates	HIGHEST itch.io	Primary distribution platform — free with optional donation, devlog updates	HIGHEST

Twitter/X	Wrestling community engagement, GIF/clip sharing, dev updates	HIGH
-----------	---	-------------

Tier 2: Growth Channels (Post-Launch)

- YouTube: Gameplay trailers, character reveals, behind-the-scenes dev content
- Twitch Outreach: Identify wrestling game streamers, provide early access for content
- Discord: Build community server for feedback, tournament organization, meme sharing
- TikTok: Short-form chaos clips, 'satisfying table break' content, gameplay highlights

4.3 Launch Timeline

Phase 1: Pre-Launch (2 Weeks Before)

- Set up itch.io page with coming soon banner
- Create Twitter/X account, begin posting teaser content
- Release digital trading cards as character reveals
- Engage authentically in wrestling subreddits (not promotional yet)

Phase 2: Launch Week

- Post to r/SquaredCircle, r/WebGames, r/IndieGaming with genuine 'I made this' energy
- Publish itch.io page with gameplay GIFs, trailer
- Twitter launch thread with best gameplay clips
- Monitor feedback obsessively, respond to everyone

Phase 3: Post-Launch (Ongoing)

- Weekly devlog updates on itch.io
- Regular Twitter content: clips, polls, community highlights
- New character tease → trading card reveal → release cycle
- Streamer outreach as content matures

Part 5: Digital Trading Cards

Collectible roster cards for character reveals and social sharing.

5.1 Trading Card Concept

Digital trading cards serve multiple purposes in the CCW marketing ecosystem: character reveals, social sharing assets, potential in-game unlockables, and community engagement tools.

Card Elements:

- Character Art: Pixel art portrait or action pose
- Name & Type: Fighter name and archetype (e.g., 'Hardcore Legend', 'Crimson Striker')
- Stats: PWR (Power), SPD (Speed), TGH (Toughness), HRD (Hardcore) — rated 1-10
- Bio/Flavor Text: Short kayfabe bio capturing character essence
- Rarity: Common, Rare, Legendary — affects card frame treatment
- Card Number: Collection tracking (e.g., #001/002)

5.2 MVP Roster Cards

Card #001: THE DUMPSTER

Type	Hardcore Legend
Rarity	LEGENDARY
Stats	PWR: 9 SPD: 4 TGH: 10 HRD: 10
Bio	"20 years of barbed wire and broken bones. The Dumpster doesn't wrestle—he survives."

Card #002: SCAR

Type	Crimson Striker
Rarity	RARE
Stats	PWR: 7 SPD: 7 TGH: 8 HRD: 10
Bio	"Every scar tells a story. Most of his stories end with someone in the hospital."

See accompanying HTML Brand Kit for full visual trading card designs with holographic effects.

Part 6: Success Metrics

KPIs and tracking recommendations.

6.1 North Star Metric

Matches Played Per Active Player Per Week

Target: 3+ matches/week per active player

6.2 Key Performance Indicators

Metric	6-Month Target	12-Month Target
Total Players	10,000	50,000
Day 7 Retention	25%	35%
